OUR REQUEST in this column last week for information about the background of those two walnut trees now used in our masthead has borne fruit.. Or maybe we should say walnuts.

We asked last week, as a follow-up of a letter from Councilman Ed Rogers, if anyone knew the history of the trees. Ed mentioned that the City Council had taken action to preserve the trees as a city landmark and commended The Press for the "thoughtful gesture" to cap the action. He wondered what was known about their background from a historical point of view.

We are happy to report that we are hot on the trail through the cooperation of FRANK BLAINE.

Frank, the son of Judge John Blaine, is a descendant through his mother's side of the family of Benjamin Campbell, the town's founder.

Frank informed us that he is doing some reserach on the subject and soon should be able to fill us in on the authentic background of those two majestic walnut trees.

We will be grateful to Frank for this. After all, if the trees have become an official city landmark and they are to grace the masthead of The Press for years to come, we ought to know something about their background.

"der WIENER-SCHNITZEL" was the first line on the headline of a story on the front page last week.

Although we had to cut down on the size of type for the head in order to get the word in the space allotted, we could not resist using it. We liked the way it flowed.

We were also intrigued by the ramifications involved in the story itself. It really focused in on the so-called melting pot that is America.

The application for a zone change on the property on Winchester Blvd. was filed by the owner, Dr. Ernest Gong-Guy, an M. D. of Chinese extraction.

The applicant informed the Planning Commission by letter that it was planned to lease the buildings that were to be erected on the parcels to "der Wienerschnitzel," a firm that specializes in sausages. It is obvious what the home base is of that word.

The letter further revealed that one of the two restaurants at "der Wienerschnitzel" planned on the site would specialize in a complete line of Spanish type food such as tacos, enchiladas and tamales.

What's missing is an annex that would serve Coney Island and New England clam chowder.

County body eyes creek park plans

A better idea of what Campbell's part will be in the eventual development of a streamside park on Los Gatos Creek from Vasona Park through Campbell should be gained this afternoon at the County Park and Recreation Commission meeting.

Campbell recently acquired a seven-acre parcel near Camden on the Creek from the Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District. The property is now a surplus percolation pond. Tentative plans as drafted by county personnel calls for the pond to be filled to allow access to the 80-acre series of percolation ponds maintained by the district along the creek almost to Vasona.

The attractive Vasona Park area, originally a percolation pond of the district, has become one of the most popular recreational areas in the county. It was developed through the cooperation of various agencies.

Campbell officials are hopeful that a similar development can be worked out with their seven-acre "pond" to tie in with a park link along the entire creek, eventually connecting with the Campbell park on Campbell Ave.

County officials have reported that preliminary studies of land costs have been completed. At today's meeting of the County Parks and Recreation Commission it is hoped that a recommendation will be made to the supervisors favoring the creek development

PRESIDING OFFICER --City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan was the only city official present at the regular City Council meeting Monday night. Members of the council are absent from the city attending the annual meeting of National League of Cities in Detroit. Acting under the law governing cities, the city clerk called the meeting to order and then officially adjourned it until August 9, after noting that a quorum was not present. Mrs. Trevethan, during her many years of service to the city, has called and adjourned a number of council meetings in the past.

Downtown group plans study of appraisals

What the relationship is between the assessed valuation and the actual appraisal valuation of the property involved in the off-street parking district for downtown Campbell will be discussed at the meeting of interested parties next Wednesday, August 4.

The session will be a breakfast meeting at Luoto's at 7:30 a.m. and has been called by John E. Faber, chairman of the Downtown Redevelopment Committee.

In addition to members of the committee, Faber has invited everyone interested, both tenants and property owners, in the off-street parking district to attend.

Faber reports that the turnout at the previous meetings at which plans for the parking district as well as the future of the downtown area have been discussed, has been extremely light in face of the important bearing this development has to the entire area.

At the last meeting of the group, the bonding attorney explained that the most feasible method of establishing the off-

Editorial

It takes cooperation

Developing the Los Gatos Creek area from Vasona through Campbell into a park and recreational area is not as much of a dream as some would have it. It may materialize sooner than we hoped.

It can be done and, as we have maintained consistently, it should be done.

But to do the job it will take the wholehearted cooperation of the county, the cities of Los Gatos and Campbell and other county agencies involved, such as the flood control and water conservation districts.

The City of Campbell has recognized the possibility of such a development and has taken preliminary steps to acquire property for park purposes along the creek.

Recently the city-acquired a seven-acre parcel from the water conservation district that is now nothing but a percolation pond but is adjacent to a number of other such ponds. With county aid, the plan is to fill this pond in order to provide access to the others and develop a marina recreational area.

If you recall, the city and water conservation district, prior to the acquisition of the seven-acre parcel from the district, had a minor feud going over the disposition of another 10-acre parcel that had been classified as excess by the district.

The district had filled and compacted this parcel and indicated that it was willing to sell the property at the market price which was far more than the City of Campbell could afford. At that time county officials showed no interest in the 10-acres.

As a result of negotiations between the city and the conservation district, the city agreed to allow the district to sell the 10 acres and purchased the seven-acre percolation pond which after filling would provide as good access to the 80-acres of water areas as the original 10 acres. But the pond would have to be filled which costs money.

Percolation ponds along the creek which are maintained by the water conservation district can be improved into ideal marina recreational areas. Vasona Park is a case in point.

Vasona is a development stemming from the water conservation district's percolation project. Officials of the conservation district have repeatedly indicated that they are willing to work toward the development of other parks in the same manner.

After Campbell acquired the seven-acre pond, the next step was to start filling it, according to tentative plans furnished by the county parks and recreation department. Some fill has been acquired already and used.

Recently a number of county officials, including some members of the board of supervisors, made a brief tour of the creek areas and expressed amazement and concern that Campbell was in the process of filling its newly acquired pond.

They indicated that this was the wrong policy to follow. The pond should remain, they maintained, as part of the marina system.

What they failed to realize was that, unless Campbell filled its pond, there would be no access to the other ponds or, for that matter, even to the seven acres.

Campbell officials, we think, would be more than willing to forego the expense of filling the pond, provided there was other acreage available adjacent to it that would provide the needed access.

A misunderstanding seems to have developed over the intent of this city in the overall development of the park link along the creek.

The county parks and recreation commission this week is expected to discuss all the ramifications and possibilities of such a park chain, utilizing the percolation ponds in the landscaping and development.

Much of the land along the creek is already in public ownership. The county has also made preliminary studies of land costs for a proposed streamside park that would link Vasona Park with the percolation basin at Camden Ave.

We sincerely hope that any misunderstanding over filling ponds and other details that apparently have arisen will be ironed out at the commission meeting.

It will take the cooperation of all agencies to develop the creek area. We know that Campbell will cooperate in the fullest extent. We hope the other agencies will do likewise.

lation campaign this summer under the guidance of Shirley Hess, circulation manager, and Kurt Ritter, has been illustrated by a report 'from the field' by Kurt.

Kurt, by the way, has been exposed to all phases of The Press since his grammar school days when he started as a carrier. He figures nothing his boys can do will surprise him. But one did.

During a respite in the field, Kurt treated his crew to ice-cream cones, one each. One little guy wanted more on his own.

But he was a little short of ready cash.. One penny to be exact.

Undaunted the youngster reached in his pocket and pulled out a 4th-of-July sparkler to make up the difference.

The counter-man went along with it.

In fact he put the sparkler in the cash register and gave the little guy three cents change.

We have always maintained that the newspaper carrier field is a great training ground for the younger generation.

DURING OUR REMODELING at The Press we came across some interesting items while moving desks and cabinets around the joint.

One particular number which has interested us greatly is an unabridged Funk & Wagnalls dictionary which we uncovered in one of the dark corners.

The dictionary was published in 1902.

We have so far made just a cursory examination of the big book, sort of hitting the high spots.

But we intend to later compare some of the definitions with those listed in a more modern dictionary.

It is surprising the number of words in use today that don't appear in our antique job.

TELEVISION, as an example, was not around in 1902.

through county and city cooperation.

County officials indicate that much of the land in the proposed park link already is in public ownership. Opening it to recreation uses will require the cooperative efforts of the county parks department, the cities of Los Gatos, Campbell and San Jose, the Santa Clara Valley Water Conservation District and the County Flood Control and Water District, they add.

City Manager Bob Stephens, who will represent Campbell at the commission meeting, emphasized that the city will go along with any proposed plan for the creek imporvement, even if it means changing the tentative plans calling for the filling of its pond.

A remote possibility that may be explored by both city and county officials is the acquiring of a 10-acre parcel now owned by the water conservation district which has already been filled and compacted.

When Campbell acquired the seven-acre pond, the district indicated that it would put the other 10-acre parcel on the market when it was assertained that Campbell could not pick up the tab for it and other agencies involved appeared disinterested at the time.

This 10-acre parcel still could fit in nicely, both city and county officials point out, to any park link plan for the creek.

street parking district would be under the 1913-15 Improvement Act.

It was outlined that the actual appraised value of the parcels in the proposed district would have to be ascertained to obtain the proper balance. It is expected that this appraisal will be completed for next Wednesday's meeting.

At the meeting next Wednesday, it is also expected that an adjustment of the original boundary lines will be presented by the engineering firm of Creegan and D'Angelo and the city staff.

A new look at the estimated costs for both the acquisition and improvement of the district should also be ready for the committee.

Faber hopes at the next meeting that a definite plan of action for the committee will be developed so that it will be possible to move ahead with the project.

Grass Roots

Iris are attractive all year

Gardeners looking for easily grown and serviceable perennials can hardly go wrong with iris. Their flowers fill the gap between spring-blooming tullips and midsummer annuals. And the foliage remains attractive all summer, says Walter Haldeman of The Pennsylvania State University.

According to a Penn State correspondence course on perennials and biennial flowers, there are iris for many growing conditions. Some varieties grow well in ponds, marshes, meadows and woodlands--as well as well-drained garden soils, or rugged rock gardens. They grow from rhizomes, fibrous and tuberous roots, and true bulbs.

The most popular, by far, are the bearded iris, grown from rhizomes. Their name comes from the ridge of fuzz on the sepals that somewhat resembles a hairy caterpillar.

Propagation is done in midsummer. Planting time comes in late June or early July. For large blooms, use firm, plump rhizomes. Plant them in shallow holes, making sure the ends are slightly deeper than the crowns. Cover with 1 to 2 inches of soil, firm slightly and water generously.

Iris need deep, fertile soil, high in organic matter, and neutral or only slightly acid in reaction. Fertilizer with a 4-8-4 analysis, mixed with the soil, one tablespoon to each rhizome.

Iris don't need mulching. Rhizomes sometimes come to the ground surface where they get a "baking" from late summer sun. They like it.

To learn more about iris and other perennial flowers, enroll in the Penn State correspondence course by sending your name and address with $2.75 to PERENNIALS, Box 5000, University Park, Pa., 16802.

YOU CAN GROW FERNS

Right now, when your shady garden spots are the ones you enjoy the most, it's a good idea to freshen them up with a few new plants. Hydrangeas, fuchsias, begonias, and dozens of other fine shrubs and flowers are beautiful in filtered shade; but for a cool, green woodsy look, you should consider adding some graceful, arching ferns.

If you've never grown ferns before, you may be surprised at how adaptable they are. As a rule, they prefer shade, and a deep, loose soil, rich in humus--(the kind you scoop up from under large trees, full of twigs and leaves and half-decayed wood). But some of them that are native to California can take a good deal of sun and wind and seem to thrive on neglect. Our Western Sword Fern, which grows to about 3 1/2 feet, is one of these, and it is excellent for naturalizing under large trees. The Woodwardia Fern, which produces 5 foot fronds, is another hardy candidate, and, according to the California Association of Nurserymen, it makes a fine, trouble-free background for low shrubs on the north or east side of the house.

The American Maidenhair fern is a moisture lover and is most attractive near a naturalistic pool or stream. It has soft, feathery foliage to 1 foot or more on wiry, black stems.

The large tree ferns are the glamorous members of the family and, with their slender, graceful good looks, have a way of turning an ordinary garden plot into an exotic tropical forest. Two of the most popular types are the Australian Tree Fern (recommended for mild winter areas) and the New Zealand (or Tasmanian) Tree Fern, which is one of the hardiest of all tree ferns.

When planting ferns, be sure their roots are kept shallow. Burying them too deep results in unsatisfactory growth the next year.

Church plans

on N. First St. by the church to the city, the congregation began meeting in the Grange.

Under the ministry of Leon Berg, the congregation enjoyed a healthy growth. In June of 1964, Don Stram, the present minister assumed the pastorate. During this time over 50 new members have been added to the congregation, which now numbers about 70 families.

Last summer the congregation began making an intensive study of the needs of the church. A search for a suitable site resulted in the purchase of about two acres from Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dardanelli on Pollard Road. Since that time, the congregation, under the direction of their building committee, O. M. Cox, chairman, had been concerned with the plans.

The plans for the new house of worship have been prepared by Architect Dale D. Pedersen. The exterior will feature stone work of Echo Mountain Green rock and rough-sawn, stained vertical cedar. Plans call for stained glass windows with a shake roof and fibreglass spire.

From the foyer, there is access to the nursery and rooms provided for child care; the minister's office or fellowship hall-classroom wing; or the sanctuary. The sanctuary will seat 255 worshippers.

A paved parking lot to the rear of the building will provide ample space for 53 cars. Cost of land, improvements, landscaping, building and furnishings will run in excess of $100,000, even though the congregation will donate some of the labor and materials.

Construction is scheduled to begin immediately following the ground-breaking ceremony, with occupancy set for around Thanksgiving to which the public will be invited.

Don Stram, the minister reports the church is glad to be "growing with Campbell and glowing with Christian love."

Girl Scouts

Approximately 375 Brownies, fathers and leaders enjoyed a "Father and Daughter" banquet at Westmont High School recently. An international theme was carried out in the table decorations and after dinner the girls presented songs and skits according to the countries they represented. Two senior Girl Scouts led the group in a community sing and an enjoyable time was had by all.

Participants from Neighborhood 15 were Hazelwood School, Troop 824-Spain; Troop 252-China; Troop 827-Germany; Troop 826-Netherlands. Baker School. Troop 773-Holland. Forest Hill School. Troop 202-Ireland. Marshall Lane School, Troop 498-Jamaica. Quito School, Troop 484-Mexico; Troop 582-American Indian. El Quito School, Troop 354-France. Bucknall School, Troop 609-Alaska and Capri School, Troop 1034-Japan. This was the third annual banquet held by the Brownies and considered to be a huge success.

NURSING HOME

Standards of care given patients at one nursing home in Santa Clara County has met requirements for accreditation by the California Commission for the Accreditation of Nursing Homes and Related Facilities, the Commission announced this week.

The one accreditation awarded at the Commission's last meeting went to the CAMDEN CONVALESCENT HOSPITAL, 61-beds, 1331 Camden Ave., Campbell, Mrs. Edna Black, administrator.

Junior Division covers the areas of 4-H and Future Farmers of America (FFA). The 4-H program includes youngsters in the county who are between the ages of 10 and 18. The 4-H program is a voluntary educational program.

FFA is a national organization of boys enrolled in high school vocational agriculture classes.

LOS GATOS CREEK STREAMSIDE PARK Preliminary studies of land costs are near completion for the proposed streamside park along Los Gatos Creek. The portion being considered for acquisition would link Vasona Park with the percolation basin at Camden Avenue. Later acquisitions could extend the park to Campbell Avenue. The County Parks and Recreation Commission shortly will make its recommendations to the Supervisors.

The park link, if funds can be obtained to buy it, will create a continuous system of public lands suitable for recreation uses.

San Luis park starts in 1965

First phase construction of a $5 million recreational development at San Luis reservoir and Forebay is expected to begin next spring, State Director of Water Resources William E. Warne has announced.

Funds allotted in the 1965 state budget for recreational development at the state-federal joint use facilities of the State Water Project and Central Valley Project include initial development at San Luis Forebay, $661,000; initial boating facilities, $19,560; and tree planting at the San Luis reservoir and Forebay, $45,000.

The State Department of Water Resources has published plans for 10 recreational areas on San Luis reservoir and Forebay to provide for water associated activities including camping, picnicking, fishing, hunting, swimming, water skiing, boating and sight-seeing, Warne said.

Study of maps before trips can save time

A study of maps and routes for a holiday journey can save many frustrations and sometimes many miles of unnecessary driving, the California State Automobile Association advises.

A few minutes study of routes for the proposed holiday motor trip will familiarize the driver with the proper turns, road conditions, freeway interchanges or highway junctions which he will be facing during the outing.

Failure to spend the time looking at routes and maps could cause late arrival at a planned destination, extra miles of driving or missing the more scenic or enjoyable route to the destination.

A driver who is familiar with his routes and road conditions is a much more relaxed driver, and as a result is a safer driver on the road.

To achieve the most out of a holiday trip, or as a matter of fact any trip, some pre-planning is necessary.

Included in the planning is where you plan to make stops, advanced accommodations reservations, distances for the entire trip, and preventive maintenance of the family car.

From the extra minutes spent in planning hours of pleasure, relaxation, rest, recreation, and protection will be gained, the California State Automobile Association predicts.

FOND MOTHER--Vicki Hillig, of 1367 Maria Way, helps "Gigi," get a look at her puppies (two black and two white) at the annual pet parade at Rosemary School last Friday.

Sales tax law that takes effect August 1 affects motor vehicle buyers

New 1965 legislation designed to equalize the application of the sales or use tax among all groups of California motor vehicle buyers is effective as of August 1.

Department of motor vehicles field offices throughout the state will be alerted to the changes in the law applicable to transactions subject to the so-called use tax.

Motorists affected are for the most part those bringing vehicles into California within 90 days after purchase out-of-state; and those who buy California registered vehicles, including trailers, at retail from private parties not licensed as automobile dealers, dismantlers, or manufacturers.

The department of motor vehicles is directed by law to collect this tax for the state board of equalization at the time any subject vehicle is submitted to DVM for registration or transfer of ownership.

"The major change in the use tax eliminates an exemption formerly offered to persons who could certify that the private-party seller had made no other sale of a vehicle within 12 months before the transaction was reported," Tom Bright, Director of Motor Vehicles, said.

"After two years' experience, the state has concluded that this exemption worked inequitable against the majority of motorists who are required to pay four per cent sales or use tax. The state in this instance again demonstrates its intent to make its revenue producing laws applicable to all motorists without special advantage to any one group."

As in the 1963 statues, the 1965 use tax is scaled at 4 per cent of the value of the vehicle as determined by the department of motor vehicles for license fee ("in lieu") tax purposes. (Revenue from the latter fees is disbursed to cities and counties for various local government purposes.)

The director indicated that the new use tax provisions would require practically all buyers of vehicles in California to pay the state a four per cent tax on the value of the vehicle. "The buyer from a licensed dealer pays a four per cent sales tax based on the purchase price. This is collected, accounted, and disbursed by the board of equalization. The buyer from a private party who has sold or traded several vehicles in the course of a year pays to DMV the same four per cent as use tax, the seller not being licensed to collect sales tax. Vehicles brought into this state within 90 days after purchase out-of-state, for use in California, are subject to the same four per cent use tax which California buyers must pay. The new law extends the same provision to the private trasactions which occur less frequently.

A new provision in the 1965 amendments to the law establishes for the purchaser the right to prove that the price paid for a vehicle was less than the value assigned by the department of motor vehicles. An exemption also is provided when the person selling the vehicle is either the parent, grandparent, child or spouse of the purchaser, and the person selling the property is not engaged in the business of such sales. Standing provisions of law also make it possible for any taxpayer to seek relief from the imposition of use tax through the submission evidence that the tax is not due and payable.

The new law hinges penalty provisions for delinquent payment of use taxes to the similar penalties provided in the Vehicle Code for delinquent payment of registration fees.

ART EXHIBIT

Lillian Wilson of Saratoga will show her paintings and collages at Fellowship Gallery throughout August. A reception honoring the artist will be held on Sunday, Aug. 1, from 2 to 4 P. M. in the gallery, located in the First Methodist Church of Los Gatos, 125 Church St., Los Gatos.

The public is invited to meet the artist at this time. The exhibit is sponsored by the church for the community and is free to the public, being open daily except Monday, from 10 to 1:00 P. M.

Secretary of Defense McNamara is well-known as a wizard with statistics. But in recent military pay hearings before the Armed Services Committee, he ran into opposition--and for the first time in his career lost a statistical battle. Chairman Mendal Rivers hired a reputable firm of statistic analysts who completely discredited the Secretary's thesis that military men were receiving as much pay as their civilian counterparts.

Listening to Secretary McNamara and his minions testifying before our Committee on this pay bill, I found myself thinking of the story of Pat, the Irishman, who was hit by a truck. As he lay in the road, the doctor came and examined him and pronounced him dead. When Pat, very much alive, protested the doctor's diagnosis, his friend, Mike, said, "Pat, my boy, lie down, the doctor knows best."

The Secretary's string of statistics to prove enlisted men are not underpaid were presented in spite of the fact that the head of every branch of our military services complains that their good men are not reenlisting and that we will be forced to increase the draft call. His testimony also ignored the fact that in the last two years families of enlisted men have been forced to go on relief and the vast majority of enlisted men "moonlight" to pay grocery bills.

Draftees have not had a pay raise since 1952 and the number of hardship discharges for economic reasons have gone up by 25% in the last two years. It was a strange anomaly that in the same presentation Secretary McNamara insisted we had no military retention problem and then asked for an increase of 400% in a reenlistment bonus to influence men of special skills to continue a career in the service.

The Secretary's razzle-dazzle fizzled completely, however, when he attempted to disprove the Committee experts' contention that a Job Corps enrollee in the Poverty Program gets more money than a recruit in the Army, Navy or Air Force. In presenting his statistics to prove his point, he included all conceivable benefits, even down to the death benefit. He conveniently ignored the $300 allotment which the Job Corps boy can send home to his parents and ignored other items as well. But even after carefully selecting his statistics, they showed that the Job Corps lad actually gets only $3.62 per year less than the serviceman. So a draftee who was brought into service by compulsion, who would get shot at, who has to be physically fit and in the category IV mental group, who may have been otherwise capable of getting himself a well-paying job, is getting exactly $3.62 more a year than the Job Corps enrollee who is probably a high school dropout and is experiencing adjustment problems.

The Committee voted unanimously against Secretary McNamara's position. Later the House endorsed Committee action by passing the Military Pay Bill by a vote of 410-0!

It has been said that a statistician is a man who determines that if you have one hand in the fire and the other in a pitcher of iced water, on the whole you should be quite comfortable.

This was the type of statistical argument Mr. McNamara employed on the subject of military pay. Fortunately, for military morale, it didn't work.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Gladstone A. Boquist
286-2525 Ext. 202

Q. Some of the older teachers in the school where Iteachget social security payments every summer. They aren't retired yet, and plan to continue teaching when school starts again. How can they get payments if they haven't retired?

A. Any teacher who meets the age requirement and has worked long enough under social security to be insured can receive social security payments for any month in which she doesn't earn over $100 and isn't active in a business. Most older teachers can get payments for July and August. Even though some school boards pay teachers their salary over twelve months, this will not keep the average teacher from getting social security in the summer, since the salary isn't earned in the summer months --it's just paid then.

Q. I'm a junior in highschool, and plan to work during the summer. Will I need a social security number?

A. Yes, and you should get it now. Most employers will not hire workers who do not have their social security cards when they apply for a job. It usually takes about two weeks to get a card; therefore, you should take care of this before you are ready to apply for work. The Social Security Office in San Jose is located at 1010 The Alameda. You may get the application form there, or from your high school counselor.

Q. My 17-year-old son is receiving monthly social security payments. He will earn $1400 this year; will he lose any of his social security benefits?

A. If he earns $1400, he may still receive all but $100 of his benefits for the year. However, you should check with your social security office and give them the exact amount of his earnings; then, they will be able to give you an exact figure on his benefits.

Q. Ido farm work for several farmers each year. The farmers won't keep a record of my wages. What can I do about this, so that I'll get credit on my social security account?

A. Get a record book from the nearest Social Security Office and keep up with your daily pay from each farmer. Put down the number of days worked and the amount of pay each day, as well as the name and address of the farmers for whom you work. If you earn over $150 a year or work on 20 or more days and are paid on a time basis (by the hour, day, week, etc.) for one farmer, he must pay social security tax and report your earnings. If he fails to do so, you should visit the nearest Social Security Office or Internal Revenue Service Office, and tell them about it. Be sure to bring your record of your earnings.

First National marks 91 years banking service

Ninety-one years of banking service in Santa Clara County was celebrated July 11 by The First National Bank of San Jose.

From a small office with a handful of employees, First National has become one of the nation's most completely automated banks, with 18 offices, over 450 employees and assets exceeding $152 million.

The Bank's Head Office Building at First and Santa Clara Streets has been a downtown landmark since 1874. The building has been reconstructed and expanded on three occasions - in 1907, 1928 and 1963 - to keep pace with the Bank's continuing growth. The $3 million building operation completed in 1963 made the structure one of the best equipped and most modern banking facilities in the West.

First National's growth during the past 16 years has been one of striking success stories in the banking industry. During this period the San Jose bank has established 16 new offices, increased its assets by over $100 million and pioneered an impressive list of new services.

As the Bank moves into its 92nd year, President Joseph Rogers had this comment on plans for the future: "We shall make even greater use of our computer facilities, continue to strive for increased efficiency in every phase of our operations and, most important of all, provide our customers with service that is second to none."

(Mary-Letha Zets)

Wedding rites unite couple at Sacred Heart church in San Jose

Mary-Letha Zets and William Randall O'Brien exchanged marriage vows at high noon at Sacred Heart Church in San Jose in late June.

The blonde bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Joseph L. Zets, was attired in Bianchi original peau de soie gown designed with a scoop neckline, elbow length sleeves and a court train. Her shoulder length veil featured a pearl studded bow as a headpiece and she carried a bouquet of baby chrysanthemums and yellow roses.

The "something old" worn by the bride was a strand of pearls belonging to her mother, and a heirloom lace handkerchief carried by the brides in her husband's family for several generations.

Elizabeth (Betsy) Zets, sister of the bride, was the Maid of Honor. She wore a floor length gown of powder blue and carried a spray of blue and white mums. Margret (Peggy) Zets, youngest sister of the bride, was the Junior Bridesmaid. She was dressed in a full-skirted powder blue frock and carried a bouquet of blue and white mums. George O'Brien served his brother as the best man and Michael J. Zets, brother of the bride, ushered.

Almaden Country Club was the locale for a reception attended by approximately 150 guests. White carnations, stock and gladioli decorated the bridal table and the newlyweds cut a four tiered wedding cake. The young couple motered to Carmel and Mammoth Lakes for their wedding trip and are now at home in Cupertino.

The new Mrs. O'Brien is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Zets, 761 No. Central Ave. Campbell. She is a graduate of Notre Dame High School in San Jose and San Jose State College. She is employed by The Emporium as Director of Education.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer O'Brien, 66 No. Claremont St. San Jose. He is a graduate of Bellarmine College Preparatory and San Jose State College. He has completed three years with the Air Force and has received the Air Force Commendation medal. He is presently employed by Pacific Telephone as data processing manager.

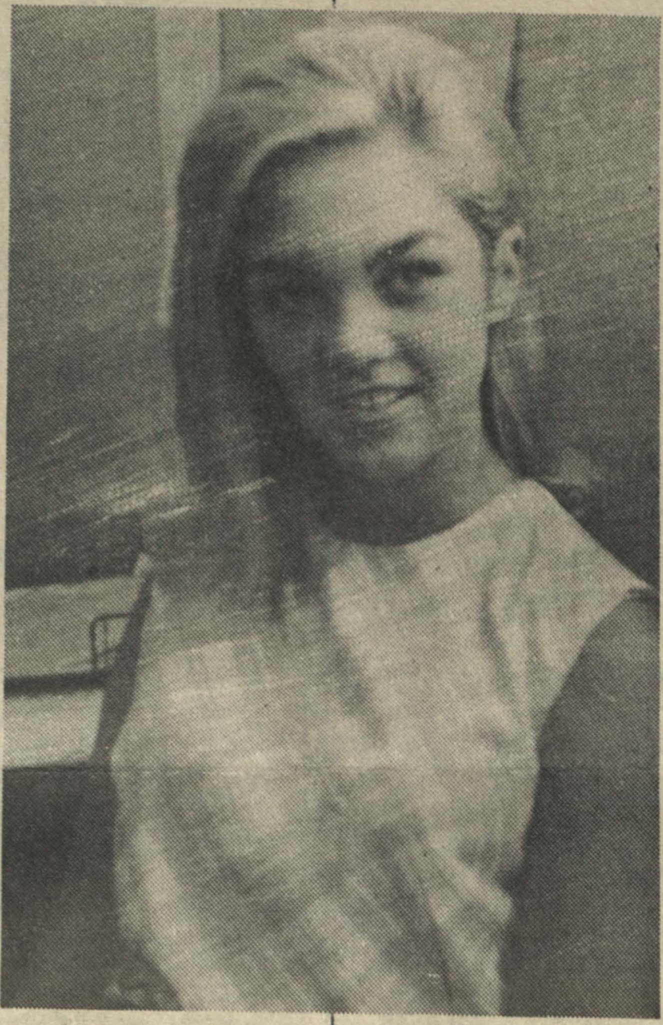
Local girl plans career with travel in mined

Barbara Brannon, sweet sixteen and blonde, has been holding down the secretary's job at the Campbell Chamber of Commerce office this summer, since the full-time secretary, Mrs. Virginia Williamson, moved to Oregon with her family.

Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Brannon, 3560 Andrea Ct. Her training in typing and shorthand at Los Gatos High School has stood her in good stead at the local office, where she takes shorthand notes at Board Meetings, handles correspondence, answers the phone, and greets the public. She will not be available after October 1, however, as she plans to attend college.

Barbara is registered at the University of the Americas in Mexico City, where she will major in international relations and archeology. She will live with a campus-approved Mexican family and hopes to overcome the language barrier in a short time.

Her future plans include traveling... to as many places as possible before she settles down to marriage and a family. She loves office work and her business training, combined with a college course in international relations, should prepare her for an exciting career. Good luck to an ambitious young lady!



C OF C SECRETARY- Miss Barbara Brannon is filling in as Secretary at the Campbell Chamber of Commerce office this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. SYDNEY A. SMITH, JR.

Sidney Smith Jr. claims Margo Trevey as bride

Sidney Abbott Smith, Jr. bestowed his name on Miss Margo Trevey at a nuptial ceremony performed at St. Martin's Catholic Church on July 3. The brunette bride was given in marriage by her father, Robert A. Trevey, Jr. She was attired in a lovely Chantilly lace gown with a bouffant, tiered skirt and portrait neckline. Her illusion veil was shoulder length and was held in place with a coronet of pearled, French rolled roses. She carried a bouquet of white roses, gardenias and Lilly of the Valley.

Miss Kathryn Bisnett was the maid of honor. Her coral chiffon gown was designed in the Empire style with long sleeves and trains of chiffon. She carried a bouquet of white carnations tipped with coral. Miss Nora C. Trevey, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid. Her gown was identical to that of the maid of honor.

David Michael Smith served his brother as best man. Ushers included Thomas Norris, Robert Durick, and Robert G. Trevey, the bride's brother.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 3348 Walton Way, for over 150 guests. An unusual feature of the wedding cake was the bride doll ornament which has graced all the wedding cakes in the bride's family for several generations.

The couple left for a honeymoon in Carmel and are now at home at 190 Burnham Court, Campbell.

The new Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Trevey Jr. of San Jose. She is a graduate of Blackford High School. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Smith Sr. of Campbell. He is a graduate of Campbell High School and is employed locally.

Junior royalty at County Fair

The search is on throughout the Santa Clara Valley for the cutest and most talented boy and girl, between the ages of 9-12, to reign as the junior king and queen of the 21st Annual Santa Clara County Fair, Sept. 13-19.

The junior king and queen will rule over Kids Day, Friday Sept. 17, as well as taking part in other Fair activities. Finalists chosen in regional contests in August, will compete for the title at the Fairgrounds in early Sept.

Representing most of the county's regions, they will be judged equally on talent, photogenic appeal, voice quality, and personality. Candidates must be residents of the county. For more information and entry blanks see your local recreation department or call the Fairgrounds at 295-3050.

New symphony to give concert on August 5

A new symphony orchestra--outgrowth of an enthused group of extended day students at West Valley College will make its debut in the college auditorium starting at 8:15 p.m. on August 5.

The 40-member group of doctors, teachers, engineers, clergy and businessmen will offer a free-to-the-public concert featuring a major symphonic work, a viola solo and a quintet. Conductor will be Cesare Claudio, instructor in music at the college. The tentative program includes the renowned 7th Symphony of Beethoven, a Mozart quintet and an early baroque concerto for viola and orchestra by Telemann.

The new "symphony" is an outgrowth of an evening class in symphony orchestra which started with eight members last September. Today it is a complete organization of brass, reeds and strings. Many of the personnel are from the San Jose-Los Gatos area, but others come from as far away as Richmond, San Mateo and Palo Alto.

Fair booth entries close August 31

Closing date for Agriculture-Horticulture booth entries is Aug. 31, according to Gene Vennum, superintendent of the Agricultural Department for the Santa Clara County Fair. Closing date for individual entries is Sept. 8.

Vennum started accepting entries as early as June for the Fair, to be held Sept. 13-19. The entries are being stored in a special refrigerator unit located right on the Fairgrounds.

"To our knowledge, we are the only fair in the world to show fruits in all seasons," reports Vennum. He attributes this large fruit selection to the perfect combination of soil, climate and season found in the Santa Clara Valley.

According to Vennum, a 61 year veteran of agriculture, Santa Clara County ranks 21st in California agricultural production.

NEWS FROM HAMILTON MOBILE HOME PARK--Swimming and bicycle riding are popular sports here.

The L-shaped swimming pool is large enough of all. The small ones stay in a safe wading section. There are quite a few boys and girls who have lived here more than two years and have done pretty well at swimming and diving from our nice board. Two especially good divers are URSULA HERTING and PHILLIP CARTER.

There are three 3-wheel bicycles in the park now, and I wouldn't be surprised if more people soon will have them.

MRS. ANNETTA KRUCKENBERG is visiting her mother and father in Long View, Washington. MR. HOMER HOOD took his daughter VICKIE, son TERRY, and a friend ROST ST. ANGELO for a 2 week vacation through Utah, Wyoming and Colorado. MR. AND MRS. RILEY WALSH are leaving with their family for a three week vacation in Canada.

See you next week!

SMALL WONDER by Walter Henry Nelson, 629-288

The amazing story of the Volkswagen. This is the story of one of the most remarkable cars ever built, a car which is a technical and commercial phenomenon and of the men who built it.

The ubiquitous "beetle" has amused, bemused and exasperated the non VW driver for years, yet it inspired such firm loyalty on the part of the ever-growing group of enthusiasts that the Volkswagen is todays largest selling single make of car.

The automotive genius who created the VW was Ferdin and Porsche; under Hitler's patronage his longheld dream of a "People's Car" almost became a reality. Then the war halted the development of the Volkswagen. British occupation forces found themselves with the bombed-out hulk of the VW plant, a mile long white elephant they couldn't even give away to the Ford people.

In the rubble, however, the Germans started building the beetles again, and in 1948 the car's new era began. SMALL WONDER is the story also of General Motors-trained engineer Heinz Nordhuff, who took over that year and built the plant into Europe's largest auto company producing 1.5 million vehicles a year.

I CAN TELL IT NOW - Foreward by Dwight D. Eisenhower. Edited by David Brown and W. Richard Bruner.

Here is a fascinating volume of untold stories behind great news events of the past twenty-five years - by those who first reported them. Some of the world's most important journalists have contributed to this book on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Overseas Press Club of America.

The book's authors include such well known names as Quentin Reynolds, Mary Hemingway, Margaret Bourke-White, Bob Considine, Fleur Cowles, Drew Middleton, Louis P. Lochner and many others.

There are thirty-eight stories with such provocative titles as "The First Big Lie of the Second World War", "Everyone Knew Stalin" and "The Broadcast That Almost Landed Me in Jail."

The book throws fresh and revealing light on great events of our times from the first year of World War II through a stormy quarter century to the assassination of President Kennedy and the new administration of Lyndon B. Johnson.

UNDER MANNIE'S HAT by Ruth B. McDougall.

When Manfred Brandenstein became engaged to Renee Roth he attempted to bridge the chasm between German Kultur and French culture with hilarious and often moving results.

This union of two San Francisco families is told by Mannie's daughter, Ruth, starting with the "Fire of 1906" and continuing to the passing of the man who helped found one of the two great family-owned coffee empires of the West - MJB Coffee Co.

THE Q DOCUMENT

a novel by James Hall Roberts

What would happen if a two-thousand-year-old document were discovered that cast irrefutable doubt on the divinity of Jesus? A scroll that if authentic--or in the wrong hands could be used to destroy Christian faith? Here is a novel to rival Morris West's "The Devil's Advocate" in its narrative interest.

James Hall Roberts is the pseudonym for a successful free-lance television script writer and novelist. This is his first novel under the Roberts name.

ONE DAY IN THE AFTERNOON OF THE WORLD

a novel by William Saroyan

In this eloquent novel, William Saroyan comments on the human condition with the wit and warm perception that have distinguished his best work.

On the surface the novel deals with the hectic in an effort to make some money. Gleaming beneath the crowded actions of the days is a man's dawning recognition of the coda of his life, "one day overlapping another, every day gone with the work unfinished, things to do, people to see, words to say, a man himself unfinished."
